

He who did not spare
His own Son, but delivered Him up for us
all, how shall He not with Him also freely
give us all things

Romans 8:32

On the Goodness of God

*Propio Filio suo non pepercit:
sed pro nobis omnibus tradidit illum.*
"He that spared not even His Own Son,
but delivered Him up for us all."
-----Rom. 8:32

Consider that, since the Eternal Father has given us His Own Son to be our mediator and advocate with Him, and the Victim in satisfaction for our sins, we cannot despair of obtaining from God whatever favor we ask of him, if we avail ourselves of the help of such a Redeemer. How hath he not also, with Him, given us all things? What can God deny us when He has not denied us His Son?

None of our prayers deserve to be heard or granted by the Lord, for we do not deserve graces but punishment for our sins; but Jesus Christ Who intercedes for us, and offers for us all the sufferings of His life, His Blood, and his death, does indeed deserve to be heard. The Father cannot refuse anything to so dear a Son, Who offers Him a price of infinite value. He is innocent; all that He pays to Divine justice is to satisfy our debts; and the satisfaction He offers is infinitely greater than all the sins of men. It would not be just that a sinner should perish who repents of his sins, and offers to God the merits of Jesus Christ, Who has already superabundantly atoned for him.

Let us therefore thank God, and hope all things from the merits of Jesus Christ.

Affections and Prayers

No, my God and my Father, I can no longer distrust Thy mercy; I cannot fear that Thou wilt refuse me the pardon of all the sins I have committed against Thee, and that Thou wilt withhold from me the graces necessary for my salvation, since Thou hast given me Thy Son, in order that I should offer Him to Thee. Thou hast given me Jesus Christ on purpose to pardon me, and to render me capable of receiving Thy grace, and Thou hast commanded me to offer Him to Thee, and to hope for salvation from Thee for His merits. Yes, my God. I will obey Thee, and I thank Thee. I offer Thee the merits of this Thy Son, and through them I hope for grace to remedy my weakness, and all the injuries that I have done myself by my sins. I repent, O infinite Goodness! of having offended Thee, and I love Thee above everything; and from this day forth I promise Thee to love none but Thee. But my promise will be of no avail if Thou dost not help me. For the love of Jesus Christ, give me light and strength to accomplish all Thy holy will. Trusting, therefore, in the merits of Jesus Christ. I hope that Thou wilt grant my prayer. Mary, my mother and my hope. I beseech Thee also, for the love of Jesus Christ, to obtain for me this grace. O my Mother, listen to my prayer.

¶ Our new parish website is now live/online at sacredheartorlando.com Currently it has our weekly bulletin and other general information, but in the near future, it will host the daily livestream of the Mass and will have other features, such as informative articles and the ability to process online donations and to schedule 30-day candles.

¶ There are still many weeks available for Sanctuary Lamp Intentions! Reserve your week today!

¶ This Thursday is Candlemas: the Purification of the Blessed Virgin Mary, the 40th and final day of Christmas, and the day on which candles are solemnly blessed and carried in procession. The First Thursday devotions to Christ the High Priest will be held at noon, followed by distribution of Holy Communion; the blessing of Candles, Procession, and High Mass will be held at 6:30 p.m. Please join us for this important feast day!

¶ Solemnly Blessed Beeswax Candles will be available for a donation of $8.00/each or $15.00/pair from the evening of February 2 until supplies run out. Many people keep these special candles throughout the year and light them during storms & hurricanes or when they have an urgent prayer.

¶ Friday is the feast of St. Blaise, patron of those with illnesses of the throat. The blessing of throats will be offered after Mass and after the Holy Hour on Friday, and after all Masses next Sunday.

¶ First Friday and First Saturday devotions to the Sacred Heart of Jesus and the Immaculate Heart of Mary will be offered according to the usual schedule. Please sign up and join us for the 7:00 p.m. Holy Hour on Friday!

¶ Next Sunday is the First Sunday of the Month. Benediction is cancelled in favor of the Blessing of Throats, which will be administered after all Masses. There will be a potluck dinner after the 9:00 and 12:00 Masses; please sign up in the Social Hall if you plan to bring a dish to share! At all Masses, a second collection will be taken to benefit the Kitchen and Maintenance Fund.

¶ Sunday Masses at the Tallahassee Mission begin next Sunday. Fr. Andrade will be visiting from Arizona to assist with the Masses. Please make him feel welcome!

¶ Thank you for all your prayers! Fr. Jonathan's mother's surgery was successful, and she is currently recovering. We continue to await more biopsy results, so your continued prayers would be appreciated!

Saints of the Week

St. Francis de Sales. Born on the border of Switzerland, into an old aristocratic family of Savoy, Francis of Sales became one of the foremost leaders of the Catholic Restoration. He drew Calvinists to the Church by his Christlike kindness; but he was very exacting in the direction of his converts. His writings are Christian classics in which he emphasized the importance of a staunch Catholic laity, holding that it is an error to believe that piety is incompatible with any state of life. Francis of Sales was appointed bishop of Geneva in 1602. Eight years later, together with St. Jane of Chantal, he founded the Order of the Visitation. The holy and gentle apostle died in 1622.

St. Martina. According to tradition, Martina was a young Roman who after her parents' death gave all her possessions to the poor and consecrated her virginity to Christ. When arrested by Emperor Alexander Severus, she steadfastly refused to deny her Lord. In spite of atrocious torments, Martina professed her love for Christ: "I love my Lord Jesus Christ who strengthens me." She was beheaded for that love in 228.

St. John Bosco. John Bosco (1815-88) grew up on a Piedmont farm in Italy. While still a student-priest at Turin, he began his mission for the abandoned boy apprentices of the early industrial era, who roamed uncared for on the streets of the city. Priests and Brothers gathered about John Bosco as his work developed, and formed the Salesian Order, named in honor of St. Francis of Sales. HE also founded a community of Sisters to aid needy girls. Today, the missionaries of John Bosco carry on his ideals of gentleness and charity among poor children in Asia, Africa, South America, North America, and Europe.

St. Ignatius. Ignatius was either the second or third bishop of Antioch after St. Peter. When Emperor Trajan tried to force the Christians of that region to worship the Roman gods, the greatest obstacle to his purpose proved to be the aged bishop of Antioch. Trajan ordered that the intrepid prelate be taken to Rome in the year 107 and there thrown to the lions in the arena. The magnificent letters Ignatius sent to several Christian communities during his journey recall the mysticism of St. Paul's Epistles. "My yearning is for death. My Love has been crucified, and I am not on fire with the love of earthly things. I desire incorruptible love," he wrote.

The Purification of the Blessed Virgin Mary. Mary and Joseph presented Jesus in the Temple on this day. The Holy Spirit had revealed to the just and devout Simeon that should not die before he had seen the Christ of the Lord. In the temple the old man glimpsed Jesus in Mary's arms and blessed God, knowing that at last he had seen the Savior, "a light of revelation to the Gentiles and a glory for your people Israel."

But only after the Savior's Passion and Crucifixion would the light win for men the final victory over bodily and spiritual death. Simeon therefore said to Mary, the co-redeemer of mankind, "Your soul, too, will be pierced with a sword – so that the thoughts of many hearts will be revealed" (Luke 2:35). May we, too, after having shared the redemptive sufferings of Christ attain the final grace of presentation in the holy temple of God's glory.

St. Blaise. Blaise, a physician in Armenia, perceived that the ills of the soul are infinitely more grievous than those of the body. He was ordained a priest and later appointed bishop, but God permitted this healer of souls to retain the power of healing bodies. St. Blaise became known far and wide for his miraculous cures, and he is still invoked for protection against diseases of the throat. He was martyred in 316, during a persecution under Emperor Licinius.

St. Andrew Corsini. Andrew Corsini was born in the 14th century in Florence, Italy. He fell into bad company; but soon, touched by the grief of his mother, the young nobleman entered the Carmelite Order. Having served as prior of his convent, he was chosen to fill the vacant bishopric of Fiesole. He continually helped the poor, doing so in secret in the case of those who were ashamed to make known their distress. By showing his people the true nature of Christian peace, Bishop Andrew put an end to a number of troublesome disturbances in the city. He died on the feast of the Epiphany, 1373.

Sunday Commentary

Fourth Sunday after Epiphany

Introit—	Psalm 96.7-8, 1
Epistle—	Romans 12.16-21
Gradual—	Psalm 101.16-17
Alleluia—	Psalm 96.1
Gospel—	Matthew 8.1-13
Offertory—	Psalm 117.16,17
Communion—	Luke 4.22

Today we worship our Redeemer as the supreme lawgiver and ruler of His universe. All His laws for governing the association of men with one another are applications of the law of love. And all His governing of the universe is for the protection of the life that He gave to men—both their natural life and His own divine life shared with them.

Jesus did not let the winds of the sea destroy the hierarchy of the Church that He came to establish and to spread over the earth. He will not let anything happen that might defeat His own purposes and plans. WE have only to believe and to love. The growth, strength, and the fruition of Christ's Mystical Body on earth depend on how firmly we believe in God and on how deeply we love all men as our brothers in Christ.

EPISTLE—In everyone's physical or spiritual need, in every offense or irritation, in every scandal or fault, Christ is saying to each Christian, "You owe Me the debt of love."

GOSPEL—The Apostles, still in training, failed when their faith in Jesus was put to a test. Jesus rebuked them and worked a double miracle to save the. Though our faith be tried, we know that Jesus remains in control of His world.
